Plan for a voluntary special fund Presented to IMF

1222. SHRI SURESH KALMADI: Will the Minister of FINANCE be pleased to state:

(a) what is the impact of the Plan for a Voluntary Special Fund recently presented to the IMF by the Indian Director, which would enable the Third World countries who are in arrears, to get further aid;

(b) whether the developed countries are agreeable to this plan if so, what are their reactions; and

(c) what are the details of the progress made so far in the matter?

THE FINANCE MINISTER (PROF. MADHU DANDAVATE): (a) At present the burden of additional charges on members' overdue financial obligations to the IMF are met by both debtor and creditor countries through higher charges from the former and reduced remuneration to the latter thereby allowing the members who are neither borrowers nor creditors to escape the burden. Besides, under the present burden sharing arrangement the debtor countries, most of them poor developing ones, bear burden far in excess of their quota share whereas creditors countries most of them developed, share less than their quota share. In contrast, the proposal made by our chair in the Board of IMF envisages the broadening of the scope of burden sharing mechanism by making the entire membership participate and thereby making the arrangement more equitable.

(b) and (c) The industrial countries were not very enthusiastic about it as the contributions were to be voluntary and they expressed the view that the required amounts may not be forthcoming.
